ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

The Only Evening Paper in St. Louis With the Associated Press News Service

NIGHT EDITION

VOL. 70. NO. 294.

ST. LOUIS, THURSDAY EVENING, JUNE 13, 1918—24 PAGES.

ESPY SAYS HE WAS THREATENED BY U. S. ATTORNEY

Police Board Secretary, in Grand Jury Room, Asks for Protection Against Walter Davis.

LEAVES JURY ROOM AS DAVIS ENTERS

Was Waiting to Testify at Federal Inquiry Into Case of Whisky Sale to Soldiers.

While James C. Espy, secretary of the St. Louis Police Board, sat in the witness room of the Federal grand jury this morning, Walter Davis, Assistant United States District Attorney, entered.

A moment later Espy went to the door of the grand jury room, and calling out Assistant District Attorney White and some of the members of the grand jury, demanded protection from Davis. He said Davis had insulted him and had threatened to assault him.

He said afterward that Davis said, on approaching him, "I understand you've come down here to get my job. I've a good notion to smash you right now." With this, Espy said, Davis shook his fist under his nose.

Espy, accompanied by Lieut. William Stinger, had gone to the Federal Building to testify in the inquiry which the Federal grand jury has been asked to make into the alleged sale of liquor to soldiers at Mannion's Park, at the end of the South Broadway line. The inquiry also relates to the action taken by Davis in the Mannion's Park case, following arrests made there April 6.

Soldiers Bought Whisky.
The arrests were made with the help of two soldiers, who bought whisky through a negro bootblack at Mannion's. When the case came before United States Commissioner Atkins, Attorney Davis, who represented the Government, ordered the release of all except the negro, and said it appeared that the policemen had sent the soldiers to trap someone into selling drinks to them, and that the case looked like a "frame-up."

After the dismissal of the cases the Police Board sent a communication to the War Department protesting against Davis' action, and setting forth that the police had been specially requested by officers at Jefferson Barracks to suppress the sale of drinks to soldiers in the Mannion Park neighborhood, and that the two soldiers had been "loaned" to the police to aid in making a case. Secretary of War Baker replied that he had called the case to the attention of Attorney-General Gregory.

Police Commissioners Called.
Davis then caused Federal grand jury summonses to be issued for President Mannion, Commissioner Fouke and Secretary Espy of the Police Board, Chief Young, Lieut.
Stinger and Special Officers Renwald, Elsing and Linder of the munality squad.

His purpose, he said, was to have them explain why they had criticized him for dismissing the cases against Edward Mannion, proprietor of a park, and two others.

After Espy had made his appeal to the grand jury for protection, he was excused until afternoon. He and Lieut. Stinger had been waiting most of the morning. Police Commissioners Fouke and Girardin were not summoned as witnesses.

BRONNER ELECTED PRESIDENT OF THE MISSOURI PACIFIC

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, June 13.—Harry Bronner of this city was elected president of the Missouri Pacific Railway Co. today to succeed B. F.
Bush, who resigned to become regional Director of Railroads for the Southwestern District, with headquarters in St. Louis.

Bronner was chairman of the company's finance committee. Finley J.
Shepard was re-elected vice president.

Bronner as president of the Missouri Pacific, is not expected to have voice in the operation of the railroad.
Insufficient as Director-General Mc-Adoo is likely to name one of the operating officials of the road to direct its affairs under Government control.

Lured Break Causes Heavy Loss.
By the Associated Press.

QUINCY, Ill., June 13.—Loss of a half million dollars in crops, damage to levees and to a new pumping station, resulted when the Indian Grove levee broke, three miles north of Quincy, at 8 o'clock this morning. There was no loss of life or property. Eight thousand acres are inundated. There are 20,000 acres in the district, but it is divided by a gross levee which is still holding.

Squadron of Airplanes to Fly Over City Tomorrow

Trip Will Be in Nature of Commencement Exercises for the First Class of Graduates at Scott Field.

A squadron of United States Army airplanes, driven by this year's first class of graduates of the training course at Scott Field, near Belleville, will fly over St. Louis tomorrow morning, possibly as early as 8 o'clock. Another squadron will fly over the city in the afternoon.

The flyers will be grouped in a V-shaped formation. They will keep a height of 4000 to 5000 feet, will perform no "stunts," and will not land here, unless some unexpected circumstance should require a landing.
Lieut. Moon and Lieut. Koonz were detached this morning to make in advance flight, this afternoon, and select an emergency landing place.
The flight over St. Louis, it was announced by Capt. Behrendt, acting commandant, will be in the nature of commencement exercises for the new graduates in flying. It will probably be repeated for later classes, which will be completing their course, during the summer, at the rate of two or more a week. Flights of this kind are likely to become a familiar sight here this summer.

The graduate flyers will go to France soon, except those who remain in this country as instructors.
Three machines, followed later by a fourth, flew over Forest Park at the time of the children's celebration of Sunday, April 14, but they did not preserve any set formation, and their pilots did individual "stunt" flying.

ONE ST. LOUISAN KILLED, 4 WOUNDED SEVERELY

Injury of Jerseyville (Ill.) Man Also Reported in Casualty List.

The death in action of one St.
Louisian, the severe wounding of four others and the wounding of a Jerseyville (Ill.) man, were reported today.
Five of the names are in the casualty list and the sixth is reported in a dispatch from the Adjutant-General at Washington. Four of the wounded are members of the Twenty-eighth United States Infantry, three being in M Company. Recruits for this regiment passed through Jefferson Barracks last summer. The men are:
Killed in action—Private Frank J.
Michael, M Company, Second Engineers, 5445 Janet avenue, Jennings, St.
Louis County.

Severely wounded in action—Corp.
William A. Falvey, 201 Etta avenue,
St. Louis.

Corp. Edward E. Gray, 5600 Spaulding avenue, St. Louis.

Mechanic William J. Ward, 1241
Hamilton avenue, St. Louis.

Henry R. Markus, 4665 McCaffrey place, St. Louis.

Marcel Sunderland, Jerseyville, Ill.

Private Michael, who was 32 years old, enlisted in the regular army May 6, 1917, and was in one of the first units sent to France. At the time of his death he was a construction foreman for the Terminal Railroad Association.

Notice of Michael's death came last night in a telegram from the Adjutant-General to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Michael of Jennings.

Michael and his father, also a terminal construction foreman, had gone to and from their work together for seven years and were close companions.

Private Michael's brothers, Warren, 20 years old, and William, 31, today expressed a desire to avenge their brother's death. "I'm going to kill him," said Warren, "I've got to get those Huns for killing Frank."

His Mother Proud of Him.
Mrs. Michael said that Frank was determined to enlist at the outbreak of the war. "He had the true American spirit," she said, with quavering voice, "and I am proud to have him die for such a glorious cause.
Nothing but the hand of God would have held my boy back."

"The day he left," she added, "he put his arms about me and said,
'Mother, I am going to fight for my country and you.'"

"Oh, Frank," she exclaimed, "I'm afraid you'll never return."
"If I don't, I'll at least die honourably," he replied.

"My father and mother left Germany to escape the hand of autocracy," Mrs. Michael concluded, "and my boy has fought and died to conquer that evil."

Letter From Michael.
In a letter dated May 26 Michael wrote to his mother that he was glad he was one of the first to go over and expressing his confidence that Germany would be defeated. The letter said in part:

"I have no desire to return home until we can all return victorious."
I want to return to St. Louis some day, but not before I have done my full share. I received my gold stripe, which indicates that I have served a year, and I am very proud of it.
"The Fourth of July is being celebrated here every day. The shells fly thick and the sky is illuminated with fireworks continuously. We're going to give Fritz hell, and we're going to make him celebrate the independence of the world some day, as well as July 4."

In another letter he wrote: "I would like to be at home, but would not be satisfied anywhere but here until this war is over. I have a job to do here and I will do it, or die trying."

"I only wish I had more sons to go," said Mrs. Benjamin Markus, commenting on the wounding of her son. "We left Berlin 22 years ago to get away from the Kaiser's rule, and it is worse now than it was then." Private Markus is 55 years old.

STOLEN TIRES FOUND ON ALDERMAN'S AUTO

Alfred Bergmann Tells Detectives
He Purchased Them From "a Man Named John."

Alfred Bergmann, Alderman for the Eighteenth Ward, surrendered four tires from his automobile to detectives last night when he was told they had been stolen. The tires were of a special brand handled by the Acme Tire Co., 1122 Pine street, whose store was robbed May 28.

A detective who had a description of the tires, saw an automobile standing in front of the city hall yesterday afternoon. It had tires of the same brand as those reported stolen.
He traced the ownership of the car to Alderman Bergmann, and followed it to a garage at Twenty-second and Madison streets, where, with another detective, he seized the tires.

Bergmann expressed great surprise when told the detectives believed the tires were stolen. "If that's the case,"
he said, "take them away from here."

He told the detectives he bought the tires four days ago from a man known to him only as "John," and paid $120 for them. He said he remembered "John" as a man who had been in a horse doctor's office at 2410 North Twenty-second street. Detectives went there and questioned the horse doctor. He said he did not remember "John."

Three tires of the same brand were found last night on a service car owned by Joseph Cipolla at Twelfth street and Franklin avenue.

ARTHUR ZACHRITZ ACCEPTED FOR SERVICE AFTER 8 REJECTIONS

After being rejected eight times for service by the Army, Navy and Marines because of a displacement of the heart, Arthur Zachritz, 27 years old, 5'4 1/2 feet tall, an attorney, has been accepted in the draft by the Fourteenth Ward Board and placed in charge of the contingent which goes to Camp Pike June 24.

Zachritz was captain of McKinley
High School basketball team in 1907;
captain of the football team in 1908 and 1909, and also captain of the baseball team in 1909. While playing halfback on St. Louis University eleven, in 1911, his heart was kicked out of place in the Thanksgiving day game with Syracuse, and this defect has prevented him from voluntary enlistment.

McAdoo Returns to Virginia.

gressman McAdoo, who has been in St. Louis since his return to Virginia, returned to White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., to spend several weeks recuperating. He will continue to direct affairs of the Treasury and the railroad administration from there.

GERMANS GAIN SOUTH OF AISNE; REPULSED ON MATZ; AMERICANS BEAT OFF ATTACK

Poincare Felicitates President Wilson on Part of U. S. in War

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, June 13.—On the anniversary of the arrival in France of the first American troops, President Poincare has telegraphed to President Wilson an expression of the admiration of France for the magnificent effort put forth by America and felicitations over the conduct of the troops who are commencing to give on the field of battle examples of their gallantry and bravery.

In his message President Poincare said:
"The allies, owing to the Russian capitulation, are living through the most difficult hours of the war, but the rapid formation of new American units and uninterrupted increase in overseas transportation are leading us with certainty toward the day when the equilibrium is restored."

President Poincare also sent a message to Gen. Pershing, heartily praising "the gallant troops of your command who behaved so magnificently in the recent battles."

The President expresses the firmest hope in the continuation of the American successes.

GERMAN TROOPS IN EAST HEADED WEST, SAYS GORKY

Journalist Claims to Have Intercepted Gen. Falkenhayn's Concentration Order.

LONDON, June 13.—Germany is about to withdraw the bulk of her troops now in Russia for service on the western front, according to a statement in Maxim Gorky's newspaper, the Petrograd Novaya Zhizn, quoted by the Daily News correspondents at Stockholm.

"The Russian press claims to give the text of a dispatch sent by Gen. Falkenhayn, former chief of the German general staff, which it says was intercepted, in which Gen. Falkenhayn declares that the battles on the western front are critical and decisive, but that in order to insure definite victory and the end of the war, the concentration of enormous forces will be necessary."

"In view of the fact that our troops on the Russian and Ukrainian fronts have attained their objects," the dispatch continues, "and are now resting, the Emperor has instructed the general staff to take measures for the transportation to France of the majority of the German forces in White Russia, Ukraine and Great Russia, leaving there only small detachments necessary to maintain order."

The transportation, according to the quoted message, was to be effected within seven days.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—The allies now excel the Germans in gas warfare, Carl L. Alsberg, chief of the Bureau of Chemistry, told the Senate Agriculture Committee today.

"They not only have more gas in their disposal and are applying it more effectively than the Germans," he said, but in defensive warfare they have more improved gas masks.

AMERICANS ON THE MARNE LIKE WARFARE IN OPEN

Germans Seem to Be Checked and Marines Continue to Improve Their Positions—Spirit of Men Is Magnificent.

By CLAIR KENAMORE,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY
IN FRANCE, June 12.—The Germans seem assuredly checked on the Marne front. The American marines and infantry continue to improve their positions, and raids have brought in additional prisoners. A local advance uncovered 13 machine gun nests which were surrounded while preparations were made to capture them.

The prisoners brought back through our lines seem tired. They are young men and appear to be well fed. Their clothing, however, was ragged.

The Twenty-third and Ninth Infantry regiments of the "Syracuse" brigade did exceptionally well in the recent fighting. They went into action on an hour's notice after a hard march and fought the enemy to a standstill, being engaged in small woods, and hay fields, which gave excellent cover for machine guns.

This open warfare is the kind the American officers understand and the men revel in. The spirit of the soldiers is magnificent. They are seen on the roads wearing poppies and singing, keen to press on to the fray.

The constant additions to the American forces and the good account of themselves given by those so far engaged have had a fine effect on the whole allied line.

6 OFFICERS IN 400 MEN TAKEN BY AMERICANS

Barrage Fire Cut Off Escape of Germans in Flight From Belleau Wood.

By the Associated Press.
WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY
IN FRANCE, Wednesday, June 12.—
The excellence of the American artillery fire was largely responsible for the capture by American marines of approximately 400 prisoners in the fighting which resulted in the clearing out of the Belleau wood northwest of Chateau Thierry. The Germans, who had been told to avoid capture because the Americans would torture them, started to run, after the American machine gunners had made the wood untenable, but the artillery barrage was so perfect that the Germans were cut off from escape.

Among the prisoners are six officers, a Major, a Captain and four Lieutenants. All were poorly clad and some had pieces of bread tied to their uniforms with string. The prisoners said they were glad to be captured and several expressed a desire to go to the United States after the war to live.

All of Germany's plans, they added, called for ending the war next fall. The prisoners were told, they said, that among the Americans were many negroes.

The scarcity of officers in the German army is shown by the fact that one of the prisoners, a First Sergeant, commanded a company. He said this was a common thing now.
All the prisoners expressed admiration for the fighting qualities of the Americans.

The barn in which the prisoners were confined today in the rear of the American lines held more prisoners of war than the United States has had in one building at any time in more than 50 years.

German Air and Artillery Activities Increase on Toul Sector.
By the Associated Press.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY
IN FRANCE, June 12.—Two American patrols engaged a German patrol last night on the Toul sector, the Americans returning without losses.
The German artillery fire on this front was heavy again during the night and early today, and aerial activity increased.

The sector east of Lunelville is extremely quiet.

Gen. Pershing Reports Sunday, Rail
by U. S. Patrol.
By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—A continuation of Gen. Pershing's communique of yesterday, received today, reports a raid on German trenches Sunday by an American patrol in which three Germans were killed. The Americans returned without casualties.

The communique says:
"Section B.—In Picardy on the afternoon of June 9 one of our patrols entered the German trenches and encountered several of the enemy. In the fight which followed, three of the enemy were killed. Our patrol returned without having encountered any casualties."

bills aggregating $233,463,900 have been paid.

BERLIN VORWAERTS SKEPTICAL OF OUTCOME OF OFFENSIVE

"Success Has Proved the German Soldier Is Strong, and Nothing More," Paper Says.

LONDON, June 13.—The American correspondent of the Daily Express says that Vorwaerts, the Socialist organ in Berlin, in an article entitled "The Best Bow," expresses doubt as to the outcome of the present German offensive, admitting that it only has proved that the German soldiers always are strong, but nothing more. The article continues:
"Those who dream that we can inflict such punishment on our enemies as they will consent to a German peace must be reminded that our recent success has not even induced them to admit the possibility of peace by understanding. The German people, in any case, will have heavy sacrifices to face. Only through shortsightedness amounting to blindness can anyone deny this."

"What adds tragedy to the situation in Germany is the fact that the Russian and Ukrainian fronts satisfaction is raging increasingly within, while the Conservatives are quarreling with the Socialists. The Government takes advantage of martial law to bully the people. Assistants have been forced to hate Germany owing to this systematic bullying."

Finally, the Prussians are threatened with a conservative compromise on the franchise and, which, in Paris, an article appearing in the Berliner Arbeiter Zeitung relates the details of six children starving to death in an orphanage at Zerstorf,

WAR LABOR BOARD COMMITTEE HERE FOR STRIKE CASES

C. Edwin Michael and V. A. Olander, Representatives of Capital and Labor Respectively, Arrived Today.

SAID TO HAVE BEEN CALLED BY UNIONS

Action Stated to Have Been Taken After Local Conference Failed to Bring Decisive Results.

C. Edwin Michael of Roanoke, Va., and Victor A. Olander of Chicago, representatives of capital and labor, respectively, on the National War Labor Board, and who were designated by the board as a special committee to deal with the St. Louis strike situation, arrived here today from Washington and met with the local joint committee of employers and labor union officials in the afternoon at the City Hall.

Shortly after arrival Michael went into conference at Hotel Jefferson with some local employers now affected by strikes, and also conferred with Judson S. Bemis, vice president of the Bemis Bag Co., a member of the local joint committee. Olander conferred with labor leaders and representatives of some of the striking employes.

Called Here by Union Officials. Michael and Olander declined to talk for publication, except to say that they were in St. Louis to confer with the local committee in regard to existing strikes.

A Post-Dispatch reporter learned that they were called to St. Louis by union officials here in charge of strikes, following futile efforts of the local joint committee to bring about adjustment of the trouble.

The Wagner Electric Co. situation particularly, in which about 2000 striking employes are involved, according to labor union leaders, cited to Michael and Olander by the union men as requiring adjustment by members of the National War Labor Board themselves as it was claimed, officials of the Wagner company, have not complied with requests of the local joint committee to appear for a hearing of their case. The St. Louis Screw Co. strike situation, where union men say about 800 men are involved, has also been called to the attention of Michael and Olander.

Do Not Recognize Strikes. Officials of the Wagner Electric Manufacturing Co. and the St. Louis Screw Co. say they do not recognize strikes as existing at their plants. They say they see no occasion for participating in hearings before the local committee of the War Labor Board, since their plants are operating with nearly full working forces.

O. E. Jennings, an organizer of the Electrical Workers' Union, leader of the Wagner strikers, said a strike does exist at that plant. He said that the Electrical Workers' and Machine Union 10 days ago paid about $3500 in strike benefits to about 1800 men and women on strike at the Wagner plant.

There are a few other strikes, involving in each from 100 to 500 employees, that are not recognized as such by the employers, but which will be called to the attention of Michael and Olander by the local joint committee.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—A Marine

Carmack Tells How He Was Hit and Decorated

Major Shot When Going Over the Top, but Kept on Until He Was Brought Down Second Time, Letter Says

How Maj. John Frank Carmack was wounded in front of the German trenches, May 20, is described by the St. Louis officer, formerly Captain of I Company, First Regiment, in a letter which he wrote two days after receiving his wounds, to his wife, who is now in New York. The letter was forwarded by Mrs. Carmack to the Major's sister, Miss Katherine Carmack, who is visiting at 6325 Washington boulevard.

The official casualty list of May 23 named Maj. Carmack as having been severely wounded in action. Later his wife was notified that he had been decorated with the French Croix de Guerre, or war cross. In his letter, Maj. Carmack tells of receiving the decoration, and indicates the possible extent of his injuries by saying that the surgeons what he may lose the use of one leg, but adding that he does not believe it. The letter in part is:

You have probably received news from the War Department by this time of my having been injured. It is such a long story that I cannot tell it all to you, for I am not strong, but I will do my best. Last Monday night we went over the top and were almost in the German trenches when some German saw us and fired his gun. Well, he hit me in the right leg below the knee. I went down, but got up and went on about 30 yards more, when I was hit again in the left leg, above the knee. When orders came to go back to our trenches I couldn't get well with both legs shot up, but did the best I could to get back with my arms. I had gone about 30 or 40 yards, when a Frenchman came and dragged me back by my arms for a few hundred yards, and none too soon. But by this time our artillery and machine guns came into action and put them on the run. How they got me through a mile of trenches on a board, and two miles after that to a good old U. S. ambulance, will have to be told another time.

Six hours after I was hurt I landed in the hospital, and all the doctors and nurses are giving me the best of attention. I was put on the table under gas for two hours, and they say that the big nerve in my leg was hurt and that I may never have the use of it again. Of course, they don't know it for sure yet, and I don't believe it anyway.

My being hurt may be bad news, so now I will tell you some good news. Yesterday a very high French General came over 20 miles with his staff and, in the name of the French Government, pinned a Croix de Guerre medal on my shirt. The room was filled with officers and nurses and what do you think I did? Well, I cried like a big baby. I will remember that day as long as I live.

I am feeling some better today, but they are going to put me on the table again this afternoon, just for luck.

It has taken me almost all day to write this letter, as I can only write a little bit at a time. As yet, I haven't had a line from anyone since I left the United States, and believe me, I will be glad to hear from home. Well, I must quit for this time. Don't worry, for there is nothing you can do, and I will be all O. K. Love to all.

Maj. Carmack, who is 31 years old, was married July 31 last to Miss Marie Weber of Cape Girardeau. He was Captain of I Company, First Regiment, while the regiment was encamped on the Mexican border in 1916. His promotion to Major was one of the changes brought about by the formation of the Fifth Regiment. He was on duty with the 138th Infantry at Camp Doniphan, but was transferred to the 137th, which was made up of two Kansas regiments.

Line Corps casualty list given out yesterday contained the following names:

Killed in action: Privates George P. Olive, Perry, Fayette County, Ala.; William H. Boyie, Houston, Tex.; Henry R. Stockel, Brooklyn, N. Y.; McKinley Smart, Panam, N. Y.

Wounded severely: Col. Albertus W. Catlin, Washington, D. C.; First Lieutenant Albert P. Easton, St. Louis Park, Minn., a former football star at the University of Minnesota.

U-BOAT TAKES 80 TONS OF COPPER OFF AND SINKS SHIP

Raider Spends Two Days on Surface 120 Miles Off Cape Hatteras in Transferring Cargo.

TWO NORWEGIAN VESSELS SENT DOWN

Another Steamer Attacked in American Waters Escapes Shells and Torpedo in Race in Dark.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 13.—How a German submarine Captain kept his vessel on the surface for two days while transferring to the U-boat 80 tons of copper from the Norwegian steamship Vindegen, which was described here by the officers of the freighter. The Vindegen's crew and that of the Henrik Lund, also a Norwegian, were brought to this port aboard the Danish steamship Bround after their craft had been sunk by the Teuton raider.

The Henrik Lund was signaled by the submarine just as the latter was finishing its loading of the Vindegen's cargo, said members of the crew. The German commander ordered both the ships' companies into their boats, and sent the two vessels to the bottom with bombs.

Capt. Balmetad of the Vindegen and Capt. Kaltenberg of the Henrik Lund were interviewed here by naval officials. The crews, comprising 68 men, most of whom are Chinese, were turned over to the immigration authorities.

From South America. The Vindegen and the Henrik Lund were sunk last Saturday and Monday, respectively. This brings the total of vessels sunk by the U-boats since they began their campaign in these waters to 18.

The Henrik Lund was from Norfolk for New York. The Vindegen was bound here from a South American port, her cargo consisting of the American Smelting and Refining Co.

The destruction of these two ships makes four flying the Norwegian flag that have been victims of German submarines in American waters. The two others were the Vinland, sunk June 5, and the Eldsvold, sunk June 4, both off the Virginia Capes.

The Vindegen was of 2632 tons gross and the Henrik Lund of 4322 tons gross.

American Ship's Escape. How the American steamer Eldorado escaped both shell fire and a torpedo from a submarine off the Virginia Capes, Monday night, in a chase that ended only when coast lights were sighted, was told here by Capt. Wade, master of the vessel. The attack came soon after the Henrik Lund was sunk.

Capt. Wade said his first warning was a flash of light and a shell crossing his bow. It was dark and the captain decided that he would depend upon that and speed to save his ship. The darkness was poor. The German, according to Capt. Wade, launched a torpedo, but it went wide. The chase lasted for two hours.

WOMAN GETS JUDGMENT AGAINST PUBLISHERS OF TIMES

A jury in Circuit Judge Bond's Court today awarded a judgment of $24.66 in favor of Mrs. Irene Eberle, 2024 Penrose street, in her suit against the German-American Press Association, publishers of the St. Louis Times, for violation of a contract she had with that newspaper to appear in a moving picture play promoted by the Times in a subscription contest in 1916.

The suit first was tried in the Court of Justice of the Peace Moore, who decided in favor of the defendants. Mrs. Eberle appealed to the Circuit Court.

In 1916 the Times divided the city into 18 districts and announced that winners of a subscription contest in each district would be given opportunity to appear as characters in a moving picture play entitled "The Pitfalls of a Great City." Mrs. Eberle was winner in District No. 1. She testified the Times promised to pay her $25 a day during rehearsal, which would require about a month's work. She said she was paid only $25 for rehearsing five days and that the film was a failure. She sued for $500 and the jury awarded her this sum with interest.

The Times contended that Mrs. Eberle was paid all that was due her under the contract.

KIEL DEPARTS TO OFFER M'ADOO USE OF BRIDGE

Mayor and City Counselor Daues to Confer With Congressmen in Washington on Proposal.

Mayor Kiel and City Counselor Daues departed at noon today for Washington, where they will confer with United States Senator Winfree and Congressman Meeker, Dyer and Igoe as to the advisability of urging that the Government take over the Free Bridge for the period of the war.

They departed with the Chamber of Commerce delegation which went to Washington in the interest of Mississippi river improvement, but Councilor Daues said they would give much of their attention to the bridge problem while there.

It is planned to propose to Director General of Railroads McAdoo that the Government take over the bridge for railroad use and pay the city an annual rental amounting to the fixed charges.

"This proposition will have no bearing on the present bridge arbitration controversy," said Councilor Daues, "but we believe taking over the bridge would aid in solving the arbitrary problem." The city is now paying $690 a day for interest and sinking fund, and is paying an additional $100 a day for wages and upkeep of the bridge. We feel confident that the Government would find it advantageous to use the bridge and to reimburse the city with a rental of approximately $800 a day to cover the fixed costs and charges.

E. J. LINCHY ORDERED TO TAKE DRAFT EXAMINATION BY JUNE 21

Youth Who Inherited $1,000,000 Told to Elude New Questionnaire. No Charges Against Him.

The draft status of Edmond J. Linchey, 24 years old, who last year inherited about $1,000,000 from the estate of his grandmother, Mrs. Ellen Butler, widow of Col. Ed Butler, was explained today by the Adjutant-General's office at Jefferson City.

Linchey was summoned before the Adjutant-General Tuesday upon report that he had failed to file a questionnaire and subsequently had ignored instruction to appear for physical examination.

He told the Adjutant-General that he had filed a questionnaire and had appeared for physical examination. He said that he had been sent by the ward examiner to the Medical Advisory Board and that the board had told him that he would be notified when to appear for examination, but that he had received no such notice. He was instructed by the Adjutant-General to file a questionnaire and submit to examination before June 21.

An allowance of $1666 was made good by the War Department to work a hardship upon any draft delinquent and that if Linchey complied with the instruction now given him, his status would be that of any man of draft age who had complied with draft regulation to the letter.

CITY OFFICIALS ASKED TO PAY OWN EXPENSE TO CONVENTIONS

Comptroller Requests Them to Save $5000 Allowance Because of Increase in Employees' Wages.

Municipal officials who have been asked to pay the expense of various conventions and meetings are urged to pay their own expenses hereafter, in a notice sent to the departments today by Comptroller Nolte.

An allowance of $5000 was made good by the city for that purpose. The Comptroller asked that it not be spent but saved, in view of the fact that the increases in salaries and wages to city employees amount to more than half a million dollars.

The city paid the cost of its officials who attended meetings on municipal problems and subjects, on the supposition that they would learn something of value to the public welfare.

Missouri Pacific President to Be One of Seven Working Under Director-General McAdoo.

named by Director-General McAdoo as one of the seven regional directors who, under Government control, will be the executive heads of all the railroads in the United States. He will have charge of the Southwestern division, one of the three into which the territory west of the Mississippi River has been divided. Lines east of the Mississippi have been divided into four divisions, each of which will have a director. Bush will have his headquarters in St. Louis. Other Western appointments are Northern Division: R. H. Ashton, Chicago; Central Division: Hale Holden, Chicago. It is said a district manager will be named later for the Pacific Coast railroads.

SURVIVORS FROM THE LINCOLN TELL OF EXPERIENCES

U-Boat Sailed Among Lifeboats and Rafts of Torpedoed Transport Three Hours Hunting for Captain

LIEUTENANT TAKEN AWAY AS CAPTIVE

Submarine Commander Surprised One Officer by Calling Him by Name to "Stand Up!"

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
New York, June 13.—Two U-boats took part in the sinking of the American transport President Lincoln, and one sailed among the lifeboats crowded with survivors for three hours and took off an American officer as captive, according to the stories of rescued sailors, who reached an Atlantic port last night. The men said it was 9 o'clock in the morning of May 31 when they saw the wakes of two torpedoes at the same time.

Almost simultaneously the torpedoes found their mark, one fore the engine compartment, the other aft. Whether both shots were fired by the same submarine or by the pair discovered later, no one could tell. The men took to the lifeboats in perfect order, the survivors said. The transport kept her head above water for more than half an hour, while the seamen and soldiers aboard were able to seek safety.

It was while they were in the lifeboats that the submarine, hitherto invisible, popped into sight. The men in the boats were singing "The Gang's All Here," rejoicing that almost all of them had been able to get away safely, when their glee was brought to an abrupt halt by the hall of a U-boat commander.

"Where's Your Captain?" he shouted. As no one could or would tell him where the Lincoln's commander was, the U-boat cruised among the lifeboats and life rafts for several hours, on a hunt for the captain.

Giving up the quest finally as hopeless, the U-boat, according to the survivors, came alongside one of the boats and took off Lieut. Isaacs, highest officer in it. There was the last seen of the American, according to the survivors. He disappeared inside the conning tower of the undersea boat, which then submerged.

Charles McLaughlin of Yonkers, a seaman, said: "I was able to get aboard one of the lifeboats when the Lincoln was hit. For three hours, while we stood by one of the U-boats sailed around the lifeboats. Finally, one of them came alongside our boat, and the commanding officer yelled: "Lieut. Black, stand up!"

Lieut. Black, famous former football player, rose in the boat in answer to the summons, surprised that he should be identified. The U-boat commander then asked him where the Lincoln's Captain was. When Black replied that he did not know, the U-boat moved on.

William McIntyre, seaman, of Yonkers, declared he was in a soldiers' compartment doing some work when a torpedo struck that compartment. "The explosion threw me against the wall with great force," he said. "I recovered consciousness finally, and managed to get out through flying wood and smoke, and stood on a life preserver."

"While I was on deck I saw an excited negro grab a revolver and shoot himself, but, for the most part, the men were calm. I got on a life raft and stayed there for 18 hours before we were picked up by destroyers."

The survivors declared that, as far as they knew, 24 men and three officers were lost in the sinking of the Lincoln, which was homeward bound.

700 SPECIAL COMMITTEES TO RECRUIT MILITARY NURSES

Red Cross Head Forms Organization to Carry on Gen. Gorgas' Appeal.

Miss Lydia Anderson, director of the Bureau of Nursing Service of the Southwestern Division of the American Red Cross, announced today that 700 special committees had been appointed in Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas, to continue the campaign launched 10 days ago to recruit trained nurses for military hospitals here and abroad. The committees will continue their work during the period of the war.

The original campaign to enroll nurses for military service will end tonight. This campaign was carried on by the Red Cross when Surgeon General Gorgas of the United States Army, Secretary of War Baker and Secretary of the Navy Daniels, made an appeal for 25,000 nurses. The growing demand for nurses caused the Red Cross to continue the campaign.

The method here suggested for the removal of superfluous hair is quick and about five minutes rub it off. Wash the EQUALIZATION BOARDGETS STATE TAX REPORTSt. Louis Utilities Among Those Whose Increased Assessments

May Be Reduced.Assessments of railroads, telegraphs, telephones, bridges and street railways in Missouri for the year 1918 have been fixed by the State Tax Commission at $475,202,603, compared with a taxable valuation of $201,453,885 for 1917. The voluntary returns made by the several corporations owning these properties totaled $387,703,955.
The Tax Commission submitted its report yesterday to the State Board of Equalization, which is expected to conform with the lower valuations placed by Attorney-General McAllister, State Treasurer Middlekamp and Secretary of State Sullivan on other classes of property.A valuation of $55,000,000 is placed on the United Railways. Last year the company paid taxes on an assessment of $13,232,879. The Kinloch Telephone Co. of St. Louis was assessed at $2,500,000, and the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. of the State at $15,250,000.
Missouri Pacific Assessment Largest.
An increase from $6,306,000 to $18,000,000 was made by the Tax Commission in the assessment of the Terminal Railroad Association of St.
Louis. The largest assessment of any single property was that established by the commission for the Missouri Pacific Railroad in the State at large.
This company's properties were valued for taxation at $55,802,996.
The property of the Western Union Telegraph Co. in the State was assessed at $2,700,000, which was but a slight increase over last year's taxable valuation. The assessment of the Postal Telegraph Co. was fixed at $175,000.Telephone properties in the State were valued at $25,025,697; telegraphs at $3,057,000; railroads at $142,246,289; street railways at $87-089,625, and bridges at $7,784,000.
The assessment of these properties in 1917 aggregated $201,453,885. The valuations fixed by the corporations in their voluntary returns totaled $186,250,875 more than the assessments made by the State Board of Equalization in 1917.To Certify Reports at Once.
Chairman Roach of the Tax Commission announced that its valuations of the various properties would be certified at once to the counties in which they are situated so that taxes could be collected on them next autumn.The State Board of Equalization last spring rejected the Tax Commission's assessments of real and personal property and it is expected that its valuations of public utilities will also be ignored. The State Board of Equalization has announced that its equalization of assessments will not be completed until late in August or early in September.POLITE HOLDUP MAN TAKES the interruption.

"Do not become frightened," Mrs.
Morgan said he told her, as he figured as a subject that looked like a revolver. "I merely want your money."
Mrs. Morgan said that when the robber was extracting a $5 bill from her purse she asked him not to take her jewelry. He then requested that she remove her wedding and engage-them. The wedding ring was valued at $35 and the other at $800.

The robber then tipped his hat

WHY SOCIETY WOMEN WASH THEIR OWN HAIR
They do, not because they are a fad, but because they wish to obtain the greatest possible hair beauty and be sure they are not using anything harmful. They have found that in washing the hair it is never wise to use a makeshift, but is always advisable to use a preparation made for shampooing wool only. Many of our friends say they get the best results from a simple home-made Canthox mixture. You can use this at a cost of about 3 cents a shampoo by getting some Canthox from your druggist and dissolving a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. This makes enough shampoo liquid to apply to all the hair instead of just the top of the head, as with most preparations. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear in the rinsing water. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its luster and softness will also delight you.—ADV.

U. S. SOON TO HAVE MORE THAN MILLION MEN IN FRANCE

Secretary Baker Makes Declaration in Address to Graduating Class at West Point.

By The Associated Press.

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 13.—More than a million American men will be in service in France in the near future, declared Secretary of War Baker in an address yesterday to 137 graduates of the United States Military Academy. "It is not unfair to speculate that we will shortly pass the million mark," said the Secretary.

Gen. March, Chief of Staff, said that neither the menace of German submarines off the Atlantic coast, nor the territorial gains of the enemy on the Western front will affect America's policy of sending men to France as fast as ships can carry them.

The graduation was that of the class of 1919, whose members received their diplomas a year ahead of time, the first since 1817 to attain that distinction.

"We have joined a combination in which France and Great Britain and Italy and the United States have assembled in France the greatest force for righteousness the world has ever seen," said Secretary Baker.

PLANS FOR INCREASING TOLUOL OUTPUT HERE

Gas Company Will Have to Add to Equipment if Government Orders It.

Plans for increasing the St. Louis output of toluol, a fluid used as a base for high explosives, have been under consideration in the Bureau of Ordnance, according to dispatches from Washington.

This product is now being furnished to the Government by the Laclede Gas Light Co., which is the only St. Louis industrial concern in a position to supply it in large quantities. This company would have to make extensive additions to the equipment of its South Side plant, in order to increase its present output of toluol very greatly. The installation of such new equipment, it is believed, would take the greater part of a year.

C. L. Holman, president of the Laclede Gas Light Co., refused today to talk about the company's plans, or about any negotiations with the Government. He left at noon, with the Chamber of Commerce waterways delegation for Washington. Toluol is a by-product of illuminating gas. Until its peculiar value was shown by the war, it was not extracted, and was burned in the gas. The production of toluol by the Laclede company makes a certain difference in the heating quality of the gas, and an agreement with the city was made last fall by which the required standard of heat units in the gas was altered, for so long a time as the company should be required to furnish toluol to the Government. Greater production of toluol, according to engineers, would mean an increased production of coke. This would tend to stimulate metallurgical industries in St. Louis and the adjoining industrial district.

LODGE TO HEAR OF CONDITIONS IN ARMENIA AT MEETING

H. J. Gerling Will Address Pythians
Tonight; Appeal for Relief

H. J. Gerling, Assistant Superintendent of Education, will speak before Hope Lodge, Knights of Pythias, at the Hope Building, Texas avenue and Cherokee street, tonight, on conditions in Armenia and Syria, under the auspices of the speakers' bureau of the Chamber of Commerce Americanization Committee, which is conducting a campaign to make St. Louis acquainted with conditions in those countries.

The following cablegram, received through the State Department at Washington from Dr. Adams at Adana, in Northern Syria, gives details of conditions as they were a few days ago:

"Relief administered to extent of funds available from 20 important centers greatly ameliorates distressful condition, but large numbers within reach of death for lack of funds. Many die because of prolonged underfeeding. Ration in some centers is a piece of bread and soup once a day. It is pitiful to see gaunt figures plead for food. Hundreds of children are walking about the streets trying to pick up livings from dust heaps. Reduction and limitation of appropriation will add greatly to this number and sadly increase the wastage of life. This pitiful cry pleads for increased supply. Is it not possible to restore appropriation to original figure, at least, for saving life?"

27 NEGRO ORGANIZATIONS TO JOIN IN LOYALTY DEMONSTRATION

Parade to Precede Meeting at Coliseum Tonight for Benefit of Colored Women's Defense Council Unit.

All arrangements for the parade and loyalty demonstration at the Coliseum tonight for the benefit of the Colored Women's Unit, Council of National Defense, have been completed, according to Mrs. Victoria Clay Haley, chairman, and the parade will start promptly at 7:30 o'clock from Grand and Page avenues. The parade will move south on Grand to Locust, east to Channing, north to Locust and thence to the Coliseum. Twenty-seven negro organizations will participate, with Class A men forming a guard of honor.

Postmaster Selph will preside at the meeting, and Festus J. Wade and Dr. W. S. Scarborough, colored, president of Wilberforce University, Wilberforce, O., will deliver addresses. There will also be patriotic songs, drills and folk dances by school children, and drills by teams of fraternal organizations.

Sold the Chigger to the Jigger, "Jiggers!" Here Comes Hypo."

Who's Hypo? Viewed phonetically one would take it to mean some "high-up." As a matter of fact, Hypo is a low-down—hyp, chemistry, the lowest member in a series of compounds. But, what has that to do with Chiggers or Jiggers? Ah, there's the rub!

Secretary Hutchins of Tower Grove Park, evidently went out into the "talk" once upon a time, and came back bringing something with him, but—under the skin! In getting it out he learned whether it is better to "pull it" or "twist it," also whether it is better to do other certain things going than coming.

If you would like to borrow a little deeper into this subject, read the answer to P. W. K. in the Answers to Queries Column in the Want "Ad" page Sunday. There matters more than skin deep may be found, and wherein you will not be "bitten" or have to call in "Hypo" or anything else to take out the sting, for readers of advertisements in Post-Dispatch "Wants" and advertisers therein never get "stung."

WATERWAYS COMMITTEE OF 16 ON WAY TO SEE M'ADOO

St. Louis Business Men to Urge Use of Lower Mississippi River Upon Director-General.

A party of 16 St. Louis business men departed at noon today for Washington, where next Monday they will confer with Director-General McAdoo and urge him to begin at once the construction of a lower Mississippi River barge line, as a means of relieving congested condition of the railroads. The group will be joined in Washington by delegates from many of the large river and Mississippi Valley cities.

Twelve St. Louisans who are in Washington also will form part of the delegation when it calls on Secretary McAdoo. The party is headed by Jackson Johnson, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Mayor Kiel, and James E. Smith, president of the Mississippi Valley Waterways Association, which is responsible for the trip to Washington.

Under the so-called railroad bill, Secretary McAdoo is empowered to spend any part of a $500,000,000 fund for the development of inland waterways. The government has already taken over the Erie Canal, in New York State, and is operating it as a war measure. The local delegation has lengthy statements setting forth the advantages of river transportation, and refuting the statements of railroad men who have bitterly opposed the use of the river.

The St. Louis delegation may call upon Secretary of War Baker and urge him to locate at least one war industry in this city. Business here feel that this city has been slighted in the selection of sites for Government war factories.

PATROLMEN ON TRIAL
ON THEFT CHARGES

Witness Says One Helped Take Whisky From Car for Loading Into Wagon.

Charles Murphy of 3507 North Eleventh street, in the United States District Court today, testified against Patrolmen Robert Wetzel and Joseph F. Fleck Jr. at their trial on charges of stealing merchandise from interstate shipments.

Murphy testified that on the day of the robbery, late in April, he was walking at Ninth street and St. Louis avenue, when he met the two patrolmen and John Vaughn, a coal dealer of 2830 North Jefferson avenue, and two Terminal street policemen, whom he asked him if he wanted to make a couple of dollars.

Vaughn went away and returned with a wagon, he said, and the entire party, including the patrolmen, drove to Broadway and Brooklyn street. The patrolmen went ahead to reconnoiter, he said, and returned a few minutes later, saying everything was clear. They then drove to the railroad yards at the foot of Brooklyn street.

Murphy testified that the wagon was driven to the door of a box-car and that Wetzel stood near the door of the car while Fleck and one of the switchmen got into the car and passed out about 50 cases of whisky, which were put into the wagon.

They drove west on Brooklyn street, he said, and when they were passing a watchman's shanty in the railroad yards a watchman called on them to halt, but the two patrolmen showed themselves and called out to him: "It's all right, Dad."

They drove to an alley near Ninth street and St. Louis avenue, he said, and after a conference it was agreed to take the whisky to a saloon at Second and Dock street. The patrolmen, he said, helped unload the wagon and put the whisky in a room back of the saloon. It was recovered there later by railroad detectives.

Vaughn has told the same story to the police and is expected to testify against Patrolmen Fleck and Wetzel.

SAYS ERECTION OF $2,000,000 HOTEL AWAITS "ZONING" LAW

R. H. Stockton Tells Aldermanic Committee of One Fifth-Pending Bill Will Have Robert H. Stockton, president of the Majestic Manufacturing Co., told members of the aldermanic Legislation Committee, at a public hearing yesterday afternoon, that the erection of an apartment hotel to cost $2,000,000 awaits the adoption of the "zoning scheme" contemplated in a bill now pending in the Board of Aldermen.

Unless there was assurance, through the passage of the bill, that the district in which it is intended to locate the hotel will be protected against invasion by commercial and industrial establishments, the building will not be erected, Stockton said. Stockton declined to give the name of the man who is promoting the enterprise. "He is a friend of mine and I know that he is able and ready to obtain the capital he needs and to begin the building as soon as there is a guarantee that the investment will not be impaired by the process that has been permitted to ruin whole neighborhoods in St. Louis in past years."

The Legislation Committee received from the Chamber of Commerce and representatives of other organizations promises of support for the passage of the "zoning bill," which would regulate the height, area and use of property and residential, mercantile and industrial districts in various parts of the city.

EDUCATION'S VALUE TAUGHT BY WAR, SAYS EDMUND JAMES

Legislatures Will Not Be So Parsimonious With Institutions Hereafter, Says Educator.

Prediction that, because the nation has learned the value of education in wartime, legislatures henceforth would be more free with appropriations for institutions of learning, was made by Edmund James, president of the University of Illinois, in his address today at the commencement exercises of Washington University, in Francis Gymnasium.

"In the past Legislatures have been parsimonious with educational institutions," President James said. "Now we find the urgent need of chemists, engineers and all sorts of scientists. If a small part of the great amount of money now being spent frantically and lavishly to win the war, had been spent before the war in education, we would have found ourselves in a more comfortable position. When the war is over and the men come marching back with the Kaiser's scalp at their belts, Legislatures will recognize more fully the value of education."

BOY'S DEATH BY AUTO ACCIDENT

Verdict of Coroner's Jury in Case of Vaughn Sniff.

A Coroner's Jury returned a verdict of accident today in the death of Vaughn Sniff, 10 years old, of Luxemburg, St. Louis County, who was killed yesterday by an automobile driven by Harry Hettlinger, 34 years old, a pork salesman, of 3810 North Twenty-third street. The accident occurred in front of 3810 Alabama avenue in Carondelet.

The boy's father, Harry Sniff, after the verdict, shook hands with Hettlinger, who showed great distress over the accident, and told him that he believed him not to blame for the fatality. The testimony showed that the boy, with his younger brother, had been riding on an auto wagon, and ran from behind the wagon and in front of the automobile.

CAPT. WALTER FRY GETS DIVORCE

Capt. Walter F. Fry of the Medical Corps, stationed at Camp Funston, filed a suit for divorce yesterday against Mrs. Selma Fry, 352 Lafayette avenue. He was granted a divorce immediately by Judge Garcesche. Mrs. Fry entered an appearance to expedite the divorce. Capt. Fry testified his wife deserted him on Oct. 31, 1916, and has refused to return to him.

FREE ADMISSION TO FETE AT HIGHLANDS

Affair Will Be Under the Auspices of D. A. R. and U. D. C.

ONE of the principal patriotic events of the week will be the outdoor carnival which Jefferson Chapter, D. A. R., and Confederate Dames Chapter, U. D. C., will give at Forest Park Highlands on Saturday afternoon, the proceeds to be used for the war relief work of the two organizations. No admission charge will be asked at the gate and all St. Louis is asked to attend.

In addition to operating the amusement concessions for the afternoon, a card party has been arranged in the pavilion for 2 o'clock with prizes which are said to be particularly attractive for each table. A special prize of an embroidered dress pattern will be presented to the guest drawing No. 100 at the card tables, and Mrs. Ella B. Robinson has donated a spinning wheel to be given to the one holding the same number in the vaudeville theater, which will be managed for the afternoon by Mmes. P. H. Dean, A. E. Reton and J. D. Ferguson. Among those who have made reservations for the card party are Mmes. Nannie Wright, Alexander DeMott, J. F. Drew, W. L. Berry, C. E. Neely, Festus J. Wade, Firmin Desloge Sr., Samuel McK. Green, W. G. Chappell, H. L. King, Herbert Parker, Frank M. Crunden and T. L. Anderson.

Mayor Kiel and Mrs. Frederick D. Gardner, wife of the Governor, have each donated special prizes for the card party. All the arrangements for the affair are in the hands of a committee headed by Mrs. Houston T. Force and Mrs. W. W. Henderson, the chapter regents, and it is hoped to make it one of the largest events of its kind ever given here.

VANDERBILT - BAKER WEDDING

Secretary and Mrs. McAdoo Among Guests at Ceremony.

By the Associated Press.

LENEX, Mass., June 13.—Mrs. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt was married at Holmwood, her country home, here late yesterday to Raymond T. Baker, director of the United States Mint. Because of a heavy thunderstorm, the ceremony took place in the large reception hall, and not on the lawn, as planned.

Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt was maid of honor and United States Senator Key Pittman of Nevada best man. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Benson N. Wyman, pastor of the Lenox Congregational Church, who read the Episcopal service. Among the guests were Secretary McAdoo and Mrs. McAdoo, Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to the President, and Mrs. Tumulty, Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, U. S. N., and Mrs. Grayson, George T. Marrye, who was American Ambassador to Russia when Baker was secretary of the embassy at Petrograd.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Isaac E. Emmerson of Baltimore, wore a traveling gown of dark blue.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker departed for California.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

The Red Cross Cartoon Page.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

We have in our newspaper experience of some 15 or 20 years some unique things told in various campaigns, but we want to compliment you most highly on your editorial page of Thursday, May 23, devoted to the Red Cross drive. This is a very wonderful thing to do for this particular cause and, of course, putting it in the place you did gave it the wallop and the punch. The Post-Dispatch seems to be noted for that very thing.

What Are Roosevelt's Intentions?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In view of the absence of editorial comment in most of today's papers on Col. Roosevelt's speech of last night, this communication may seem a case of "fools rushing in where angels fear to tread," but one point should be kept in the public eye. Mr. Roosevelt's speech-making tours are inevitably connected in the minds of his audiences with the campaign of 1920, and the public is interested in him at least as much for the future as for the past. On this account it is well to bear in mind the possible issues which would aid in electing him. One hundred per cent Americanism is not an issue. Those of us who desire that—and I hope it is all of us—will continue in office the man at present in the White House as the greatest, though perhaps not the noisiest, exponent of that policy.

The one circumstance which could return Mr. Roosevelt to the White House would be the existence or imminence of public disaster in the present war, which would cause a discouraged people to rally to his virile personality. It is to call attention to the temptation which this fact offers, both to Mr. Roosevelt and to the party, or its leaders, which supports him, that I have taken the liberty of sending you this letter.

The public must be on its guard against subtle attempts which may be made to discredit the administration and dishearten the people. We all want criticism based upon facts and suggestive of improvements, and Mr. Roosevelt would be looked to with greater regard for his judgment if he would state where he stands regarding the fundamental acts and policies of the President and would praise with the generosity of a big and forceful man, at least some of Mr. Wilson's universal admired statements and achievements.

We are eager to see Mr. Roosevelt show his 100 per cent Americanism by ceasing to devote his energies to insinuating flaws in the administration. Let him take his own advice regarding loyalty and get on the band wagon where he can both encourage by his honest enthusiasm and aid by his clear-sighted statesmanship.

Individual Drinking Cups.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

It interested me to read an article published in one of the St. Louis papers in regard to the second free clinic established for the care of tubercular patients in St. Louis. This is a splendid idea, but there is one more thing the authorities should do to guard the public health, especially when there are people afflicted with this disease walking around the streets. They should adopt a more rigid inspection of the saloons, cafes, soda fountains and other public drinking places.

As I am a patron of the fountain, I have noticed a number of places that have adopted individual paper drinking glasses, and think these are far superior to the dirty, wet, sticky glasses that are served to the public in many places in our city.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I read a letter by Meester Berdanian in your column last Thursday in which he says he no longer dares name "Samsons" for our American boys over there.

Den on las' Monday evening I read a letter by Meester F. H. Benton. He says he likes for our boys to be called "Samsons." He says it is a term of affection.

Now das alla right! I like dis spirit shown by Meester Berdanian and Meester Bent. But say, wad a match you two fell? You bot have wrong! Le's compromise on dees important mattah! What you two gen's say we call dees brave men "Samsons!" It see da one bully name for da fightin' sons of Uncle Sam!

Two Public Service Orders.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Will you please advise through the columns of your valuable paper why the order of the Public Service Commission allowing the United Railways to increase its fare is immediately enforced, when the order of this same body made more than a year ago requiring of the United Railways to put in daily use a sufficient number of cars for the necessary accommodation of the public, and prohibiting only a designated per cent of persons from being allowed to board a car after the seats were filled, is not enforced?

A SUBSCRIBER.

AN ASSOCIATE FEDERAL JUDGE.

The Department of Justice has been asked by counsel for the Government to assign a special Judge to the local Federal Court, with particular reference to expedition in the trial of espionage act cases.

The unequal justice of prompt conviction for some of the defendants in such cases and of delays of many months for others is already little short of a scandal. But examination of the conditions under which the court performs its duties discloses a very serious general situation and an impairment of efficiency lamentable at this critical period.

The Judge of the court is one of the oldest members of the district judiciary. In respect to quality, promptness and orderly regularity, its functions are subject to the disabilities of advanced age. Cases originating under the new congressional statutes have brought a great increase of business to Federal courts in all important centers. In St. Louis there is on the one hand a congested docket and on the other a court machinery that moves uncertainly and erratically. The District Attorney is incapacitated by a dangerous illness.

Some relief will, of course, be afforded by designating a special Judge to sit in certain classes of important cases that are pressing for hearing, and by the transfer, as is proposed, of a long list of citizenship cases to the State courts. But this relief will be only partial and temporary, while the condition to be provided for can be met only by permanent and comprehensive measures of relief.

A bill to create an Associate Judge in this district has long been pending in Congress. In defiance of facts that are notorious in legal and judicial circles, Congress has refused or neglected to act on it.

The bench in this district needs a first-class Judge to preside, with the full authority of a Federal Judge, unhampered by any limitations of precedence or subordinate rank. The wheels of justice are blocked. At a time when the need for efficiency and an expeditious disposal of cases is greater than ever before, the court shows daily more of inefficiency and incapacity. The introducers of the bill know the need. In failing to provide for it Congress will fall in its duty.

ATTENTION, MR. MCADOO.

The following is quoted from a statement of Brigadier-General W. H. Bixby, president of the Mississippi River Commission and division engineer of the Western Division of the United States River and Harbor Works:

The above statement of facts shows that an 8-foot channel from St. Louis to Cairo and 9 feet from Cairo to New Orleans is practically dependent only upon the continuance of appropriations; and its continuous maintenance is as certain and regular as that of land travel. Moreover, it is much more difficult to sidetrack steamboats than it is to sidetrack railway cars, so that quick delivery of freight by water is much more probable than quick delivery of freight by rails.

FLAG DAY.

These are times when almost every day is Flag Day in America. Yet the observance of June 14 as the birthday of the Star-Spangled Banner should be an especially emotion-stirring occasion this year.

Since the last anniversary Old Glory has taken on new glories. It has flaunted its stripes in victory at Seicheprey, at Cantigny and at Chateau-Thierry. It has been consecrated anew to the cause of human freedom by the valor of brave men who have died for it. At the very moment when we are retelling its old stories to our children, the peoples of downtrodden lands are looking up at its stars and finding in them a bright omen for the future.

The Americanization Committee of the Chamber of Commerce has arranged for a general observance of the day in St. Louis. In many places patriotic programs will be given. The flag itself will fly from countless staffs. But in addition to all the formal celebrations, every American ought to have a little private celebration within his own heart. He should set apart some little section of the day for meditation upon what the flag has meant to him, what it meant to his fathers and what it will mean to his descendants. For, after all, that is the kind of Flag Day observance that really counts.

SACRIFICE OF THE ST. BERNARDS.

One of the minor and still not the least regretted tragedies of the war is described in the brief telegram stating that the shortage of food has compelled the members of the famous Alpine monastery community to kill all their St. Bernard dogs.

Twice before in the last 100 years the monastery kennels were threatened with extinction, once when an avalanche swept away all but three of the dogs, and once when a plague caused the death of all but one, compelling a renewal of the stock from outside sources. But this time the fatal sentence had to be pronounced by the monks themselves, perhaps was executed by their own hands.

Doubtless this sacrifice of the St. Bernards, under the hard necessities of war, is something of which art will take cognizance with noteworthy results some day. One can imagine the reluctance with which the good monks reached their decision, the hopefulness with which they postponed the evil day by dividing their own scanty fare with the dogs and the ultimate prayerful acceptance of the inevitable as a kindness not only to the community's hungry human proteges, but to the dogs themselves, already gaunt with starvation. The final farewell scene between the sorrowing monks and the largest and noblest specimens of the dog family must have been a gathering worthy of perpetuation.

Instead of the 185 or more varieties of dogs classified by moderns, the ancients recognized only three—the fighting dogs, the running dogs and the sagaces, or "wise dogs." The St. Bernards must surely be placed with the latter class, some of the resolute qualities of the other two being also conceded. The work of rescue with which they have been associated for eight centuries has declined with the digging of tunnels under the Alps and the new safeguards of travel. Only the more venturesome of tourists have created an occasional need for their services in recent years. But a St. Bernard monastery without its St. Bernard dogs would be visited with a painful sense of something lacking. Fortunately, admirable specimens of St. Bernards are preserved in other parts of the world. Their owners, when happier times come, will deem it a privilege to send some of them back to the original home of this dog family of celebrity.

THE ZONE PLAN ORDINANCE.

With the adoption of the pending zone ordinance by the Aldermen, only a beginning will be made in applying a beneficent principle tending to stable and symmetrical city growth.

Many changes have already been made in the scheme since it was first elaborated by the City Plan Commission. Undoubtedly many changes will be made in it from time to time after enactment, to conform with the needs of the future. Its legality is yet to be determined. That it might be held reasonable in some of its details and unreasonable in others is entirely conceivable. To represent the consensus of neighborhood opinion in a great multitude of streets and parts of streets and provide for all conditions in St. Louis' 61-1-3 square miles of territory was obviously a difficult task.

But as giving recognition to the principle of city control of city development—community building to serve the greatest good of the greatest number—the adoption of the ordinance will mark an important departure. It is a measure for the conservation of values. It will tend to prevent violent fluctuations in the price of real estate. It applies to the city at large through municipal legislation regulations which, as made operative by common consent in outlying districts and suburbs, are universally conceded to be an asset contributing to neighborhood desirability.

It is not to be regarded as laying down a hard and fast rule, but as a measure of promise in a matter on which St. Louis has already delayed too long—as a help, not a handicap, in future municipal progress—it should receive aldermanic sanction before the adjournment for the summer recess on June 28.

Col. Roosevelt fell short of accuracy when he described the United States marine as "half sailor, half soldier." A better definition would be "a whole sailor and a whole soldier rolled into one."

MURDER OF THE WOUNDED.

In three weeks the allied victims of German bomb attacks on hospitals numbered 991, of whom 329 were killed, including 13 nurses and other women. The progressive nature of German savagery is shown by these figures, which remove all doubt, if doubt existed, about the attacks on hospitals being due to a carefully planned, settled policy, rather than to accident or an intention manifested only occasionally. For a full and detailed interpretation of the German character under the reign of war madness, the horrors of Servia and Belgium and of the U-boat cruises will, of course, always have to be studied. But the crowning symbol of German infamy, the epitome of the meaner degrees of barbarity, will be found in the murder of the suffering and helpless brave ones who are regarded as having a special sanctity and shown immunity by even many uncivilized tribes.

The Germans have only to adopt the scalping custom to place themselves on a complete parity with the most savage of our Red Indian tribes. Probably our forces over there do not include many experienced in ways of fighting Sioux and Apaches. But there must be many sons of old Indian fighters to whom the technique has descended by tradition.

Prussian War Minister von Stein tells the people back home that "Foch's reserves no longer exist," which is all very well for Berlin consumption, but the Germans at the front do not seem overenthusiastic just the same.

CONGRESS AND THE PROFITTEERS.

The United States Food Administration, under the direction of Mr. Hoover, began operations something more than a year ago. The price of flour at Minneapolis was then $16.75 a barrel, while at the corresponding date this year it was $9.80. The difference between what the farmer got for his wheat and the wholesale price of flour was then $5.68 a barrel. It is now 64 cents. The farmer, in other words, is now getting a much higher price for his wheat, while the price of the flour product to the consumer is down by 41 per cent. Nevertheless, and in spite of the much lower prices to the public, so great a saving in home consumption was effected that 80,000,000 bushels of wheat were exported to our allies in the war from July 1 last to March 31, 1918, when only 64,000,000 bushels were supposed to be available.

The facts as to sugar are different only in degree—a reduction of about 1 cent a pound in the margin between the raw and refined product and an equal reduction in the wholesale price of refined, from 8.3 cents a year ago to 7.3 cents.

In mentioning these matters among others in an annual report, the Food Administration hardly does full justice to itself. Mr. Hoover's work was so hampered by congressional obstruction that it was not until August of last year that he was able to proceed with any show of adequate authority. As it is, his efforts in respect to flour alone have saved to the American people $60,000,000 a month, which would otherwise have gone to profiteers, and few thanks are due to Congress and none at all to Senator Reed of Missouri that profiteering came to be cut out of the business. Some Congressmen are just now showing a most righteous wrath against war profiteers and would use the tax power to destroy their war profits. This is well. It will be still better in the pending revision of the war revenue act if Congress keeps itself duly impressed with the fact that for the most of this profiteering its own delinquencies are chiefly responsible.

"Just like Washington crossed the Delaware, Gen. Pershing Will Cross the Rhine" is the title of one of the popular songs of the day. It might be remarked, however, that Gen. Pershing will probably sit down in the boat.

"Wilson bites granite. He can't wool us Mexicans!"

JUST A MINUTE

Written for the POST-DISPATCH by Clark McAdams

MR. ANTWINE ON THE FOOD ADMINISTRATION.

"We have had the Food Administration now for a year, and it looks as if Hoover were waiting for somebody to say something," Mr. Antwine said.

"Of course, nobody will say anything. There isn't anything to say. What we all could say is 'Thanks!' It would be nothing less than Hoover and his associated have earned."

"The Food Administration has done something more than feed our allies. It has saved us from the rapacity of our wheat gamblers, sugar trusts, middlemen and profiteers of all sizes and sorts, some of them capable of stealing milk from babies. That is the biggest pack of wolves that ever bayed on the trail, and food control saved us from them."

"Let us not forget that in fixing the price of wheat alone that control has saved the people of this country in the past year as much as $60,000,000 a month. When it took hold of the situation we were paying the wheat gamblers $5.04 every time we bought a barrel of flour. We are told that sugar would have gone to 35 cents a pound this year but for our luck to arrest it. A rise of 1 cent a pound in the price of sugar costs the American people $80,000,000 a year. When Hoover went to work on that particular food graft the price of sugar was rising like a rocket. In the past year it has gone down from 8.33 to 7.3 cents a pound."

"It is hard enough to make ends meet and keep body and soul in some sort of contact as the matter stands. What would we have done without the food law? One trembles to think. And having the food law, what would have happened us without the experience of Hoover to administer it? Anybody can guess. It would have been exactly that mess and that failure which Senator Reed tried to tell us it would be. The Senator saw that law from the viewpoint of one who did not know anything more about food administration in war time than he did; and he knew about as much as any of the rest of us. Hoover knew what could be done. He had been doing it in Belgium. We owe it to him that food administration has been a success."

"That's why they have famines in India. There aren't any Hoovers among the Hindus."

"Why is it, Sam, that one never hears of a darky committing suicide?" inquired the Northerner. "Well, you see, it's disaway, boss: When a white pesson has any trouble he sets down an' gits to studyin' 'bout it an' a-worryin'. Then firs' thing you know he's done killed hisself. But when a nigger sets down to think 'bout his trouble, why, he jes' natcherly goes to sleep!"—Lida.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

The Extinct Hobo.

From the Minneapolis Tribune.

THE Hobo Americanus is an extinct species. In other words, the tramp is gone. The vast number of this tribe at the height of its prosperity may be guessed from the fact that about 8000 vagrants were killed every year while stealing rides on trains or trespassing on tracks. One ecologist estimates that in the golden age of Hobodom the tramps numbered half a million in the United States.

Two things have helped to make the tramp species extinct. One is the fact that the younger tramp element has gone to war. The second fact is the prevalence of jobs at high pay.

Public opinion no longer tolerates "handouts" to wandering men when work is all too evidently plenty enough to make loafers and panhandlers the worst of slackers. The public was "easy" while men were really unable to obtain work, but when work everywhere actually began for men the public easiness hardened up considerably. The trouble of living becomes much intensified for the tramp, too, by its high cost. Bread is no longer as free as the air, and the meat for the sandwich filling has become too precious a commodity to give away to men who will not work to get it.

So the era of the tramp passes. And, what is more, the outlook for universal training and plenty of work for all after the war give promise that the hobo will be extinct for good and all.

The new spirit will hardly tolerate professional slackers. States everywhere are passing laws compelling able-bodied men to work, whether they have money enough to live on or not. The idler, rich or poor, grates on the burning spirit of today. If they won't work of their own initiative, they must be led to it.

The Unfashionable Saloon.

From the Philadelphia Evening Public Ledger.

HARD drinking is plainly going out of fashion. Naturally the saloons, where most of the hard-drinking has been done, must follow on the way to the limbo of forgotten vogues.

It isn't surprising to find a record of the license cost that 124 liquor establishments in this city have failed to pay their fees and seem on the verge of going out of business. And it is questionable whether the saloons and the propagandists have had most to do in making the liquor business unprofitable and unpopular. There is a growing impression that heavy drinking is a wasteful and regrettable business. This conviction may be traced to various sources. It is due in part to better education and to a more general enlightenment among all classes of men. The movies are said to have helped toward the decline of the saloon. If this is true it seems to prove that most men have gone to the saloons for diversion and that they have been quick to welcome a more wholesome means to that end.

In any event it has long been apparent that the saloon couldn't last in the debased aspects that have aroused most of the violent criticism and the most ardent prohibition propaganda. The retail liquor business began to manifest a definite unscrupulousness when it became involved in brewers' and distillers' syndicates. It lost all the ethics of the old-fashioned tavern. It became a neighborhood menace. It invited criticism, defied it and therefore is in process of painful obliteration.

Making Citizens.

From the Humanitarian.

THE HERE should be no charity and no philanthropy of any kind. It should be a case of the citizen looking after the country's interest and the country looking after the citizen's interest. If a person has not the brains to develop himself, the state must assume the responsibility of creating an environment that will permit his development. If a man hasn't the opportunity to understand and assimilate American ideals, it is not his fault but that of the government that does not take steps to see to it that he is developed. Therefore, the Americanization bill introduced by Thomas Robinson in the New York Legislature requiring the attendance at school of every non-English speaking person between the ages of 16 and 21, is a step in the right direction.

Summer Conservation Menus

Prepared for the Women's Page

By MRS. MARIA L. SCHULZ,

Director of the Neighborhood Kitchen.

KOHRLABI

KOHRLABI is one of those vegetables which are not known and used to the extent that their value as a food and their delicate taste, if prepared right, would justify it. It is one variety of the coleus or cabbage, consisting of long green leaves and the bulbous root of the size of medium potatoes. Both leaves and roots can be used. This vegetable can be seen in abundance in the markets and commission houses going to waste, as comparatively few persons seem to know how to use it. Last fall I bought an abundance of it from the Souard market for almost nothing. I canned it and it came to be one of my most valued vegetables last winter.

To prepare Kohrlabi take off large outer leaves; they are too coarse to be used. The tender inner leaves are carefully washed and cut into narrow strips. The bulbs then are, beginning at the upper end, using a pulling downward motion to take off the tough outer cellulose. Then slice up the bulbs like you would a potato and together with the cut-up greens add it to your boiled beef.

Two pounds of beef neck are set to cook with 2 quarts of cold water, 2 tablespoons of salt and 3 bunches of the previously prepared kohrlabi. After this has cooked for about two hours, add 3 pounds of peeled and sliced potatoes and cook for another hour, when it is ready to be served. A thickening made of 2 tablespoons of ground oatmeal and 2 tablespoons of maza blended together may be added if desired.

Cormmeal Jelly Pudding

MIX two cups of yellow cornmeal with 2 cups of wheat flour, sifted with 4 teaspoons of baking powder. Add 1 teaspoonful of salt, 1 tablespoonful of sugar, 1 egg and sufficient lukewarm water to make a dough thin enough to drop from a spoon.

Put a layer of this dough in a baking tin, then a layer of any kind of jelly or jam, and so alternately until the tin is two-thirds filled, dough to be the last layer. Place into medium hot oven and bake for one hour.

The Home Dressmaker

—By MILDRED LODEWICK—

New Frock of Simple but Distinctive Lines

ON account of the repeated assertions that this summer's frocks are characterized by their charming simplicity, some women might be apt to feel when they see attractive little frocks ready-made in the shops that they are as good as any simple frock one might make. This is a wrong conception for the things—even the simple frock that raises it above the ordinary—are fine workmanship, perfect fit, good material and distinctive touches that lend individuality.

On the other hand, a frock evolved at home, although costing but little, may co-ordinate all the important attributes of charm and be as naively elegant as one might desire, with elaborate handwork, which always makes an especial appeal.

My design today is exemplary of that individuality which characterizes home-made frocks. A gray and white stripe percale or a thinner fabric such as lawn or voile cut to a square neck, is surrounded with a square collar. This is of lawn or organdy and finished with a scalloped edging in red and white. The same scalloping finishes the white undercollar. The skirt is straight, trimmed effectively yet simply with a band of the material, whose stripes run in opposite directions to those of the skirt.

How She Fixed Pretty Guest-Room Cheap

THIS is how a young wife who fixed up her own home with a small sum of money, provided an attractive guest room:

"My guest room," she says, "was small and I did not want to buy any furniture. The wall I tinted a plain cream color. I used an old bed dresser and two chairs all painted Alice blue, and tried my hand at stenciling the furniture with oil paint. I bought a stencil of a pretty flower design and put it on the rails of the bed, arms of the chairs on top of the dresser, and the front of the drawers. I didn't attempt to do the stencil with different colors, just made all the design in blue, a little darker than the main part of the furniture.

"For the windows, cushions and bed cover I found a thin 'sun-fast' material which had a very wide blue and cream-colored stripe. For my electric lights I made simple little silk shades of yellow. The rag rug in this room were woven with a pale yellow thread."—Farm and Fireside for June.

RAW MEAT PALATABLE

RAW meat is, in the general view, not fit for savages and wild beasts. But while cooking makes it palatable, it also results in deplorable waste, a loss which in these rational days is hardly to be borne. Still, the desired economy can be rendered palatable—at any rate, if it be pig's flesh.

Marriage—The Miracle

By Helen Rowland.

"No Matter How Young and Foolish You Are, No Matter How Old and Wise You Are, the Marriage Tie and the Stars in the Heavens Are Two Things You Cannot Get Away From."

IT'S June again!

And the great matrimonial drive has begun! And everybody is rushing around, wishing the combatants "eternal happiness"—(knowing full well that there ISN'T any such thing.)

And everywhere the strains of "Lohengrin" can be heard above the strains of the other "battle hymns."

And brave men are facing the fire of a thousand curious eyes for the sake of their fair women.

And falteringly repeating the old, sweet vows!

And if you are a WOMAN

A wedding is always sacred, and solemn and beautiful and thrilling to you—

Yet you can't help wondering

As you sit there under the spell of the music, in the flower-scented church, with the smiling, whispering throng about you.

If anybody there—even the radiant pair at the altar—

Knows that a MIRACLE is happening!

The marriage tie! What a BOND it is!

The strangest, most inexplicable, unfathomable, immutable, incomprehensible, adamant bond in the world!

No matter how young and foolish you are—no matter how old and wise you are.

No matter how worldly and cynical you are.

The marriage tie and the stars in the heavens are two things which you cannot change, nor get over, or around, or beyond, or away from!

You may call yourself "advanced."

And vow that, to you, the wedding ceremony is merely a conventional hocus-pocus, for the benefit of society.

And that YOUR marriage shall be a "TRUE marriage," which shall last only so long as love lasts.

AND 10 years later you will find yourselves clinging together over the grave of a dead love, and a thousand dead illusions.

Smilingly denying your misery to the world.

You may discover, a week after the wedding, that you have not ONE congenial point in common.

Yet you will go on for the rest of your lives trying hopelessly to adjust yourselves to one another.

Each of you doing a thousand distasteful little things a day, and declaring loudly and vociferously that you are "perfectly happy."

Down in the slums a husband and wife may live as peacefully together as a pair of strange leopards.

Yet the charitable friend who attempts to interrupt their fights will be turned upon and torn limb from limb—

And they will join hands in mutual glee over his defeat.

In more cultured circles a married pair may quarrel over every mortal thing from the temperature of the coffee to the existence of the soul after death.

Yet they will go miles out of their way to prove to a doubtful friend that they are "ideally mated!"

Even when two people come to the point of divorcing each other, they, somehow, cannot forget the "BOND!"

And when the obsequies are over and the hatchet is buried and the lawyers are paid and they are hundreds of miles apart.

Each will worry about the other, and wonder if he—or she—is happy.

And it isn't the law, and it isn't the state, and it isn't the church, or society, or duty, or conscience, or even children, that holds them together.

In this bond that is stronger than the bond between sister and brother or father and daughter or mother and son, or even between lovers!

It is something far deeper and more mysterious and more powerful than any or all of these—something on which, biologists and sociologists and anthropologists will tell you, all human society is founded.

Yet not one of them can tell you what it IS!

And I don't wonder, after all, that bachelors and bachelor maids are so frightened at the thought of it—

For it is the strangest and most astounding and wonderful and beautiful thing in the world—

This MIRACLE of MARRIAGE!

The Tenderest Part.

"ALTHOUGH I was late," said the new boarder, "I found the landlady had saved for me the tenderest part of the chicken."

"What was that?" asked the old boarder, jealously.

Again, I would find Ruth's eyes fixed on me with a beseeching glance that might mean anything or nothing.

As a whole the atmosphere seemed surcharged with a nameless excitement, almost a terror, as if something dire were impending. Once or twice I saw Stone and Terence exchange startled glances, but they rarely looked at each other.

There was something brewing, of that I was sure. But whatever it was it did not affect the Schuyler sisters. They were eager to talk, anxious to hear, but they felt nothing of the undercurrent of mystery or meaning that affected the rest of us.

I was glad when the time came to go. It was very late, nearly midnight, and I marvelled to see that Ruth showed no sign of weariness.

The sisters had been frankly yawning for some time, but Ruth's eyes were unnaturally bright, and her pale cheeks showed a tiny red spot on either side.

She shook hands nervously and her voice trembled as she said good-night.

Fleming Stone and the boy were moved, I could see that, but they made their adieux without reference to future meeting or further work on the mystery.

"E went away, and as we turned the corner I started to cross the street to go to my home."

"Come into the Van Allen house a few minutes, Calhoun," said Stone, gravely. "I've something to tell you."

"We went in at Vicky Van's Stone's manner was ominous. He and Fibby both were silent and grave-looking."

We went in at the street door, into the hall and then to the living room. Stone and I sat down, and Fibby darted out to the dining room, back to the hall and up the stairs, flashing on lights as he went.

In silence Stone lighted a cigar and offered me one, which I took, feeling a strange notion that the end of the world was about to come.

In another moment Fibby came slowly downstairs, walked into the living room, where we were, gave me a look at Stone, and then threw himself on a divan, buried his face in the cushions and burst into tears.

His thin little frame shook with sobs, great, deep, heartrending, rattle-racking sobs, that made my own heart stand still with fear.

"What could it all mean? What told me the boy?"

"Tell me, Stone," I begged, "what is it? What has upset him?"

"He has found Vicky Van," said Fleming Stone. "And it has broken his heart."

Silver-Lined Clouds.

BETTY was cross. She wanted to go to the seashore and it was raining.

"Never mind, daughter," said her mother, "there are other days coming, and every cloud, you know, has a silver lining."

Betty got a book and sat down by the open window in a big chair, and every once in a while she would look out at the black-looking sky. "I know those horrid black clouds have no silver lining," she said, beginning to think about what her mother had said.

"If you would like to find out about the silver lining, come with me," said a voice near her.

Betty looked up and there on the window sill was a funny little old woman with a broomstick with a basket hanging on the end.

"If you come along with me I'll show you the lining," said the old woman. "Just hop into my basket and see for yourself."

Betty climbed in the basket and the old woman jumped on to the broomstick and it flew with them up and up until Betty thought she would never be able to get back to earth.

"Hello, Betty!" called someone, and Betty turned around in her basket and saw a lot of tiny little fairies, but the old woman told her they were old Mr. Moon Man's children, the star children. They were sailing about in a beautiful silver boat and holding little pitchers in their hands.

"Hello!" answered Betty. "I don't think I know you, but I should like to very much."

"Oh! But we know you, Betty," they called to her. "We see you every night when you are asleep. We peep through your window."

JUST then Betty saw a beautiful silver cloud. "Oh, how pretty that big cloud is!" she exclaimed.

"Yes; that is the same cloud you saw from your window this morning, the silver lining," said the old woman. "Look around and you will see they all have silver linings."

Betty did, and found it was just as the old woman had told her. All the clouds were silver.

"I should never have found it out if you had not taken me up above the clouds," said Betty. "I could not see the silver from the earth."

"Yes, you could, my dear, if you would try," said the old woman. "I brought you up here that you might understand how it can be done."

You have to do when the sky looks dark and you cannot do things you would like to do to rise above the dark and cloudy things that bother you and think of all the good things you have.

"You have a nice home, a good father and mother and lots of toys and books and games and plenty of things to amuse a little girl like you. Are the things that should make you see the silver lining to all the clouds that seem to be in your life. Rise above the clouds, and you will find they are lined with silver every time."

Just then someone called Betty very loudly and Betty jumped. There she was in the chair by the window and the sun was shining.

It was her mother calling her to say they were to have a picnic after all, and because they started late they were to stay over night.

"Every cloud has a silver lining, you see, daughter," said her mother, "for we should not have spent the night at the seashore if we had gone away, and you can bathe in the morning surf, so that is the silver lining to your cloud."

"I dreamed about the silver lining, mother, and I know how to see the silver. I forgot it was a dream—it was so real."

HOW TO KEEP THE BABY WELL IN SUMMER

First of Six Articles in the Federal Government Campaign to Reduce the Mortality of American Infants.

THREE hundred thousand American babies die every year. The Government, through the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor, is making a national effort to reduce this appalling infant mortality, and one of the means chosen is to give the widest publicity possible to information on the proper care of the baby.

Co-operating with the Bureau, the Missouri Division of the Women's Committee of the Council of National Defense has prepared by St. Louis medical experts a series of six articles on how to keep the baby well in summer. These articles will be printed in newspapers all over the State and part of them will be shown in moving picture houses. The first of the series is here given and others will follow:

DON'T LET YOUR BABY DIE THIS SUMMER FROM SUMMER COMPLAINT.

Summer complaint is caused by:

1. Keeping baby too hot—Lowering his resistance and making him weak.

2. Dirty milk—Carrying germs to baby's stomach.

3. Ice cream made from unboiled milk and cream.

4. Flies crawling over open vaults and manure piles and lighting on baby's hands, mouth or nipple. He swallows the germs.

5. People with diarrhea touching baby's hands or the toys which he always puts in his mouth.

How to prevent:

Nurse your baby. Ten bottle-fed babies die to one that is breast-fed. Even part mother's milk may save baby's life.

BOIL ALL MILK ALL HOT MONTHS.

Keep baby cool.

Give no ice cream unless made at home from boiled milk. Boiling kills the germs.

Build baby a fly-proof crib and play pen.

Screen your house.

Don't let anyone touch baby's hands, food or toys, unless their hands are thoroughly scrubbed. Hands that look clean may carry death to your baby.

BOIL ALL WATER BABY DRINKS. Carry boiled water to picnics.

ONCE SICK—CALL A DOCTOR IMMEDIATELY.

COMFORT ON THE PORCH

By Andre Dupont.

THIS is the time of the year when the porch is the most frequented portion of the house. And yet many such outdoor lounging places, although luxurious and sometimes with the added charm of pots of greenery, are far from comfortable. This is because they are not restful to the eyes. There is a glare somewhere.

The first thing to think of when you are fitting up your porch for summer is to contrive a plan of keeping out the glare and heat of the sun.

The best way of shading a porch is by means of awnings. They give coolness and sense of seclusion. They also seem to increase the size of the enclosure, both when viewed from inside and also from the outside.

If you are careful in selecting a color that goes well with the paint the effect is most decorative. Red and white stripes look gay and summery, especially at the seashore or where there is shrubbery or many trees about. For a house standing close to others green and white is usually the most satisfactory combination, as it looks cooler in such a situation.

There are also Japanese reed screens, comparatively inexpensive. These keep out the sun, but they do not admit as much air as awnings. Then there are screens that run on cords and pulleys like Venetian blinds. These can be obtained in dark brown or greens or various weather-proof colors. Such screens are sometimes used in addition to awnings to shut off a house from neighbors that are too close to be quite agreeable.

Vines running up a perch look beautiful, but they do not always give the required shade and have an unfortunate habit of attracting flies, especially mosquitoes. Honey-suckle looks lovely at one end of a porch, and crimson rambling or Dorothy Perkins climbing roses make it a bower of beauty in June.

THE HOUSEWIFE'S SCRAPBOOK.

TO conserve fat, use salt instead of grease when using the griddle. Have the salt in a small bag of cheesecloth or thin muslin and rub the griddle just as you would do in greasing. You will like it better, too, as there will be no smoke in the cooking process.

The linoleum will look like new if you add kerosene to the water when cleaning it. Use one tablespoonful of kerosene to the gallon of water.

Wash your gilt picture frames with the water in which the onions have been boiled and the flies will avoid the frames.

When you put a new oilcloth on the kitchen table paste a square of heavy fabric on the inside where it covers the corners of the table. This will materially add to the wearing qualities of the oilcloth.

You will do your bit in the war if you double your green and white breakfast and let this be corn flakes, cornmeal, oatmeal, hominy or rice.

Here is a patriotic dinner menu: Tomato bisque, rice rolls, broiled shade, scalloped potatoes, cabbage, cold slaw and hominy cutlet.

She Takes 'Em.

"NOW, Rhoda, there's no harm in a few candles," protested Ruth, and then she changed the subject quickly, for she evaded a passage at arms with the sisters whenever possible.

The talk, however, soon drifted to the never forgotten subject of the murder. The sisters mulled over all they had heard or learned during the day and begged Stone to propound theories or make deductions therefrom.

Stone obeyed, and that was what he was employed for.

"I think Miss Van Allen is masquerading as somebody else," he affirmed. "I believe she is in some house not very far from this neighborhood, under the care of some friend and accompanied and looked after by her maid, Julie. I believe she is in touch with all that goes on, not only from the newspapers but by means of some spy system or secret investigation. But the net is drawing round her. I cannot say just how, but I feel sure that we shall yet get her."

It was a grievous mischance that I let her escape last night, but I shall have another chance at her, I'm sure."

"And then you'll arrest her," said Rhoda, with a snap of her thin lips.

"I dare say. Lowmyer tells me the finger prints on the little knife with which Mr. Schuyler was killed are clear and unmistakable, but we have not yet found out whose they are."

"And can you?" Ruth said anxiously.

"If we find Miss Van Allen," said Stone, "we can at least see if they are hers."

"Foolish!" said Fibby contemptuously. "Why didn't you tell me before that you had the claw prints? I know, Miss Van Allen's all right, all right!"

"How?" said I, for Fibby had lapsed into the careless speech that meant business.

"Over to her house. Why, they're all over. I've only gotto photograph some brushes and things on her dressing table to get all the prints you want."

"That's true," agreed Stone. "But it won't give us what we want. Nobody doubts that Miss Van Allen held the knife that stabbed Mr. Schuyler, and to prove it would be a certain satisfaction. But what we want is the woman herself."

It was then that I noticed Ruth

The Senators Took All the "Shock" Out of Shocker, in the Ninth Inning Yesterday

SENATORS RECK BROWNS IN 9TH; SLUMP STILL ON

Disaster Yesterday May Sap Confidence of Club as Similar Episode Hurt Cardinals.

SIX RUNNERS CROSS PAN

Shocker Wills Completely With Lead of Four Runs—Griffs Play Final Today.

If the showing of the Cardinals can be taken as a criterion, all the good work of the Browns in their titanic struggle to emerge from the slump which has affected their play was wiped off the slate yesterday by the disastrous ninth inning, wherein the Senators scored six runs, more than enough to obliterate the lead of four the Browns possessed and to defeat the home town boys. The final score was 6 to 4.

It will be remembered that several weeks ago the Cardinals turned into the ninth inning leading the Reds, 6 to 0. Matty's club went out in the ninth and scored nine runs, thus winning 9 to 6. Jack Hendricks, as well as many other smart baseball men, admitted that it would take the Cardinals a long, long while to "live down" such a defeat. "The records of play bore out the assertion, for the Cardinals had anything but a successful home stand.

A Tear in Every Ward.

Coming home after a swing around the East wherein they won sufficient games to put them up among the leaders, the Browns on their current home stand went into a slump. They suddenly lost their winning punch and while they made enough hits to win almost every game played, they lost because they could not hit safely with men on the bases.

Recently, particularly since the Yankees left town, Fiedler Jones' athletes have shown signs of regaining their hitting stride. They won the first game to the Senators, but won the second, and yesterday, up to the frightful ninth, looked every inch a good ball club. When Shocker was going along in great style, three of which were bunched in the ninth, but no scores were registered against him.

On the other hand the Browns neked away. Harry Harper and by grace of well-timed hits, had amassed a lead of four runs. Hence, when they took the field for the second portion of the game, they appeared certain winners. But, here is what occurred in that horrible ninth:

Thus The Thing Began.

Foster beat out a hit to Gerber. Milan doubled past Sisler. Shanks put out a sacrifice fly to Hendryx. Foster scored, while Milan crossed the plate with the second run as Gedeon and Sisler were expunging Morgan. With two out and none on, Lavan singled to center.

Frank Schulte batted for Stanley Reese, who relieved Harper and by the mound and sent a hard grounder to Sisler, which went for a hit. Johnson broke for the plate and beat Sisler's throw, trying the score. Shanks ended it by fanning.

Johnson pitched the final inning for the Senators and while Hendryx singled and Demmitt walked, the Browns could not score. Hence the Browns had lost a game apparently won and their record on the home stand stood at four victories and eight defeats.

It May Prove Serious.

While such games are always deplorable, yesterday's may prove particularly disastrous. The Browns have shown at various times this season that they are a game ball club and it is barely possible that they may be able to quickly overcome the effects of the defeat. On the other hand, using the Cardinals as " Exhibit A," there is a chance that "Exhibit B" may appear before they regain their confidence, which had almost entirely disappeared after the series with the Yankees, wherein they lost four of five games.

The veteran fans endeavored to recall just when and where Washington had put together six runs in one inning previous to yesterday, but their memories failed. It set a record for the season for Griff's crew, which only added to the bitterness of the defeat. However, there is no use trying to detract from the credit of the performance, as all the hits were clean and every run was earned.

The Senators conclude their stand today and the best the Browns can do is to break even. Walter Johnson, in all probability, will work for Griff, as he pitched but one inning yesterday. Either Southern or Lowermilk will show for Jones. The game will begin at 3:30 o'clock.

SEVERID MAKES GREAT SHOWING IN FIRST GAME

Frank Severid started his first game of the season behind the bat for the Browns yesterday and his playing showed he has fully recovered from the attack of pneumonia with which he was afflicted during his spring training trip. Moreover, Hank's batting was one of the features of the Browns' playing.

He drove in Johnson with the first run of the game with a single in the second inning. In the fourth Severid drew a pass, while he made his second hit in the sixth inning, a single to left. In the eighth he rolled to Foster and in the ninth he struck out, ending the game.

He's Going Over.

When Charley Chaplin goes to France.

And takes along his cane. His derby hat and comic pants. He'll give the Huns a pain.

When Charley crosses No Man's Land With his peculiar gait. Those "putch" will stare to beat the band And sing a hymn of hate.

When Charley Chaplin goes across They'll open up their eyes. To see him accurately toss A flock of custard pies.

He'll dodge between the Kaiser's legs. And knock him off his pins. Then soak him with some rotten eggs To chide him for his sins.

Ship Ahoy!

It is rumored that Walton Cruise will join the navy. Any remarks we make about the navy being the proper place for a Cruise would be so obvious that we will refrain from making any comment at all.

A cruise, according to the dictionary, is a voyage from place to place for warlike purposes or for pleasure. Hence we take it the justly popular Cook has retired in favor of Uncle Sam until such time as the world has been made safe for demerol and Cook's tourists.

John, alias "Jack" Johnson, has applied to Uncle Sam for release. John, alias "Jack," says he wants to go to France and fight the Germans.

Jack Johnson is the gentleman who, according to a story in the colored supplement, sank a submarine and captured the entire crew single-handed off the coast of Spain a year or so ago.

Looking over the records we find that the report that the Pirates were hopelessly outclassed was outrageously exaggerated.

With Joe Jackson out of the way Ty Cobb would have clear sailing if it weren't for George Sisler. This

George Stallings apparently has picked the pitching plum of the year in Dana Fillington, for whom the Braves' chieftain gave Tex Covington and Calvin Crum to the Indianapolis club. Singularly, Fillington hurls the spitball.

Yesterday Fillington pitched his first shutout for the Browns, blanking the Pirates with three hits. He has won five games and lost two since joining the Braves, and four of these victories were achieved without the opposition scoring a run.

Fillington has by far the best early season record of any pitcher in the National League. He has allowed but eight runs in the 43 innings he has worked, an average of 1.16 per nine-inning game.

Fillington's record follows:

DATE	CLUB	R	E	I	AN
May 6—Brooklyn	0	0	0	0	0
May 14—Chicago	0	0	0	0	0
May 22—Cincinnati	0	0	0	0	0

Perritt Stops Cubs.

Pol Perritt, former Cardinal, halted the Cubs' winning streak after it had reached nine straight. Perritt bested Tyler in a pitching duel, holding the Braves to one run in six innings, while Flack couldn't field, was the only run of the game.

Connie Mack's Athletics suffered another near-knockout punch, yesterday, when the National commission, Ban Johnson dissenting, awarded Pitcher Scott Perry to the Boston Braves, on a prior claim.

The Texas League decided to continue through the season with an eight-club circuit. New Orleans and Beaumont are the cities sought as additions to the league.

CAN MISS GOULD TURN TABLES ON 1916 CONQUEROR?

Championship in First Women's Central States Tourney Hinges on the Answer.

RIVALS MEET THIS WEEK

No Play Thus Far Has Shown Ability to Extend Either of the Favorites Named.

None of the ladies competing in the Women's Central States Tennis Tournament now in progress on the Triple A courts at Forest Park seems to have a real chance of defeating either Mrs. Adelaide Yeager of Los Angeles or Miss Corinne Gould of St. Louis for the first title ever contested. On their form thus far Miss Gould is ready to doubt, but Mr. S. H. Adams appears the best of the others.

It will not be the first encounter of Mrs. Yeager and Miss Gould if they reach the finals. In 1914 they met in the third round of the State championship. Miss Gould, who is barely 18 years old, was then only 16, while her opponent was an experienced and mature player. Miss Gould was defeated.

Since that time Miss Gould has strengthened both physically and scientifically. She has also twice won the municipal championship for women and last season she captured the State championship. No outside entries appeared for this event, which was held in St. Louis and was, therefore, merely a city championship in effect.

Experience May Win.

Mrs. Yeager has won the State, Kansas City and other championships and is a physically stronger and more experienced player than her opponent. Their encounter, if it takes place as expected, will be watched with great interest.

Miss Gould's tournament record to the present times follows:

1914. Defeated in semi-final round of the Kirkwood-Webster tourney for women. Won the Junior championship for girls at Triple A.

1915. Defeated in first round of city tournament in a hard three-set match with Miss Leslie La Beaume. Won the Consolation championship of the same tourney by defeating Miss Mary Byers in the final round.

1916. Defeated in third round of State tournament by Mrs. Adelaide Yeager. Defeated in the final round of the final round of the State doubles tourney by Miss Alice Prendergan and Miss Leslie La Beaume.

1917. Won the women's State championship by defeating Miss May Scullin. Is at present in the final round of the women's Municipal championship.

Mrs. Yeager in Semi-Final.

Mrs. Yeager reached the semi-finals of the Central States event yesterday, when she defeated Miss Burges, 6-2, 6-0. Mrs. Yeager used her backhand stroke more than any other.

Miss Mabley also reached the semi-finals by winning two matches yesterday, the first from Miss L. Luedeking, 6-2, 6-2, and the second from Miss Henke, 6-2, 6-2.

Miss Henke defeated Miss Drewes in the best-played match of the day. Both sets were 6-4. Miss Henke played a steady game.

In the doubles Misses Henke and Stricker defeated Misses Drewes and Miss Mabley, 6-2, 6-2.

Rivals Favored in Doubles.

In winning these two matches, Misses Henke and Stricker reached the final. They will play the winner of the Mrs. Yeager and Miss Gould.

The closest match played yesterday was the contest between Miss Burges and Miss Finnegan. It took Miss Burges 10 games to win the first set, and seven to win the second.

The results of the day are as follows:

Singles.

Miss Norma Burges defeated Miss Mabley, 6-2, 6-2.

Miss Angela Henke defeated Miss Alma Drewes, 6-4, 6-4.

Miss F. Mabley defeated Miss Louise Luedeking, 6-2, 6-2.

Miss Corinne Gould defeated Miss Margaret Haase, 6-1, 6-1.

Mrs. Adelaide Yeager defeated Miss Norma Burges, 6-2, 6-0.

Doubles.

Dr. Olinde Stricker and Miss Angela Henke defeated Miss Elma Drewes and Miss Mabley, 6-2, 6-2.

Miss A. C. Henke vs. Miss Etta Roover.

Miss Corinne Gould vs. Mrs. S. H. Adams.

Doubles—Semi-Final Round.

Misses Margaret Haase and Finnegan vs. Miss Corinne Gould and Mrs. Adelaide Yeager.

Sixteen teams are entered in the mixed doubles tournament of the Women's Central States Tourney which starts this afternoon.

Hendricks to Try Out College Star

PHILADELPHIA, June 13.—Dick Maynard, an Amherst College boy, "discovered" by the veteran George Davis, will be given a trial in the outfield by Manager Hendricks of the Cardinals, according to developments yesterday.

Maynard is said to be exceptionally fast. He hits right handed. It is expected he will take Heathcote's place in the field when southpaw is working.

Until Austin McHenry, the home-run outfielder, obtained from Milwaukee, Hendricks has been unable to get a player to fill the position. He added that he knew of no Triple A player who had entered.

No entries from Midland Valley had been received up to this morning, although an effort is being made to send E. C. Sullivan, L. A. Smith, A. H. Bowman and G. R. Noyes. Bowman was uncertain whether he could attend and Noyes is absent from the city.

W. Arthur Stickney said that the Country Club players had not as yet entered anybody and that he himself would not attend. Sterling Edmunds and Stuart Stickney also stated they did not expect to be able to enter.

The entry of the municipal team will cause the postponement of the semi-finals of the Forest Park Golf Club's semi-final championship round until June 23. Lynch and Bockenkamp are in this round.

Municipal and Sunset Hill Clubs Name T-M Teams

Big Delegations Will Represent Both Organizations at Opening of Trans-Mississippi Tournament at Hillcrest Course, Kansas City, Next Week.

By John E. Wray.

While most of the St. Louis District golf clubs have been hanging back in the matter of entering the Trans-Mississippi golf championship tourney at Hillcrest Country Club, Kansas City, next week, Forest Park Golf and Sunset Hill Country clubs are going into the event up to the eyes.

Sunset Hill has already forwarded nine entries and the Municipal at least seven. At present writing these clubs will send a large percentage of the city's total representation at the most important event west of the Mississippi this year.

The entries from Sunset Hill thus far made are Jesse Carlton, H. S. Wheeler, R. S. Rhoads, Warren Eaton, W. C. Anderson, C. E. Besch, R. L. McCrea, Eberhard Anheuser and Milton Strauss. E. C. Sullivan, the Sunset Hill member who played in the final of the district tourney, had not made up his mind as to whether he would make the trip or not.

Strong Team From F. P. G. C.

The Forest Park Golf Club will be even more strongly represented. Its team will have seemingly a better chance of scoring the high medal round than that of any of the Sunset Hill club might name.

President E. J. Snowden today gave out the information that, at least seven players would make the trip, including Richard Bockenkamp, the 17-year-old semi-finalist of this year's Forest Park tourney; Frank Lynch, a former municipal champion; J. M. Crichton, one of the municipal championship class leaders; and James Manion, State champion and former municipal champion. E. J. Snowden, C. A. Jones, T. J. Durning and others are planning to make the trip. The four players first named will make up the Forest Park Golf Club's team entry. Last year Manion, Lynch, Wolf and Buesse (now in Uncle Sam's service) won the T-M team title for the Forest Park Club.

Other Clubs Backward.

To the present time no other St. Louis golf club has announced its intention of sending entries to the Trans-Mississippi.

Chris Kenney of the Triple A stated yesterday that he probably would be unable to go, owing to the absence of his partner from the city on business. He added that he knew of no Triple A player who had entered.

No entries from Midland Valley had been received up to this morning, although an effort is being made to send E. C. Sullivan, L. A. Smith, A. H. Bowman and G. R. Noyes. Bowman was uncertain whether he could attend and Noyes is absent from the city.

Ladies' Day at Sunset Hill.

Cards have been sent out by Sunset Hill Country Club to all the district clubs inviting women players to participate in blind bogey tournament over the Graves Club's links on June 15. The prizes for this event will be a war stamp for the best gross score and ten thrift stamps for the best net score.

Wednesday of each week will be "Ladies' Day" on Sunset Hill golf links

Steel Gains Over One Point on an Active Speculative Demand—Reading and Other Rails Also Score Gains.

NEW YORK, June 13.—War news exerted a bullish influence on the stock market at the opening today, and small gains were the rule in most of the high-priced shares. Trading was fairly active, but centered largely in the industrial group. As usual, for several days, U. S. Steel featured the early market. Although the production of the older oil fields of the United States has recently been declining at the average rate of about 5 per cent, the output of these oil fields east of the Mississippi River in 1917 demonstrated that they are still capable of responding to the stimulus of high prices for their product.

More than 4,247,750 barrels of petroleum were marketed from the Appalachian, Lima-Indiana and Illinois oil fields in 1917, according to the U. S. Geological Survey. This was 1 per cent below the output of these fields in 1916, but the value of the oil at the wells was $115,897.64, which was $23,844.24 or 26 per cent more than the value of the production from these fields in 1916.
